

The Breeze of Park Point

Through the Lens of Miss Southworth

Miss Southworth's photographs invite you into them. There are paths you'd like to walk, trees you'd like to have a sandwich under, and people you'd want to meet. Her stark, black and white images often have a wistful or melancholy edge; huge trees bend to fit into the frame, people seem lost in private thoughts, and even ships seem to huddle together against unseen trouble. They are timeless images.

Recent issues of the Breeze happily have introduced Mira Southworth to a new generation of Park Pointers. A 1928 Harvard graduate, she spent her career as a teacher at Central High School, and was a very well-known figure for the students from Park Point. (It's hard to skip school when your teacher gives you a lift to the door...) Mira's passion was photography, and we present in this issue a small collection of her work. We'll be posting more on the website (parkpointcommunityclub.org) in the near future.

Miss Southworth left behind a large body of work to choose from. She printed her own photos, adding them to postcards which she'd send out as Christmas cards. These became treasured mementos for everyone who received them. Many still survive, even cards she sent to servicemen during World War II. Additionally, scrapbooks of her original photos are now in the climate-controlled, white-gloved hands of the St. Louis County Heritage Center, located in the UMD library.

There are two ways to preserve, honor and continue the legacy of this extraordinary woman: 1) Share her photographs. They deserve a wide audience and now, with a click, they can be sent around the world to again become treasured mementos, and 2) Keep watch over Park Point's Southworth Marsh, the beautiful, seven-acre tangle of green that's right across Minnesota Avenue from the tidy, longtime home of Miss Southworth.

As you review these photos, pay special attention to a) the then still-standing, 1858 lighthouse at the end of Park Pt. The oldest lighthouse in the state of Minnesota, its ruins remain today, although all of the out-buildings you see in the photo have long been removed b) the Park Pt. Amusement Park, enveloped in snow. It was one of three such parks situated on the Point, over the years. None have survived. c) the Duluth canal bridge, pre "lift bridge" days. At the time of this photo, a gondola transported people, carts and autos; the Aerial Lift Bridge portion, along with an additional 20 ft. of height, was added in 1915 d) boats in tie-down during World War II. Duluth was a major supplier of warships.

Letter from the PPCC President

Hi Neighbors,

I am hoping your 2016 is off to a good start with the gift of a mindset of appreciation for our unique neighborhood, even on the most frigid days of winter. The beach has been transformed over the past weeks. I exchanged photos with one of our neighbors who is with family in Paris, and she had an appreciation for the new landscape that will greet her on final approach to DLH. My thoughts on Duluth - it is never dull and also, only boring people are bored. (An 11th grade Film Studies teacher, Mrs. Oberg, used that line with apathetic, unengaged classmates.)

Many current projects are relevant to our Club's mission statement, "The purpose of the Club is to work for the betterment of the Community and the welfare of its residents." You may be following Gov. Dayton's water quality initiatives, which include great news for the St. Louis River estuary. Nearly thirteen million dollars of state money combined with 47.5 million dollars of federal Great Lakes cleanup funds and a collaboration of agencies will result in an opportunity to clean up contaminated sediment and industrial waste along the river. The PPCC has supported the St. Louis River Alliance in past efforts and this will offer the opportunity to get involved with the newest initiatives that will positively affect the water all around us.

Speaking of water quality and environmental upgrades, the City submitted the Coastal Grant application for the bathrooms at Lafayette on Monday. The Parks Fund has allocated $100,000 in their budget to match the anticipated $100,000 grant. I received this good news from City Architect Tari Rayala; we will know in March about the status of the grant. Thank you to the volunteers from the PPCC who worked on the grant previously.

Deputy Chief/Emergency Manager Erik Simonson sent out a letter seeking a letter of support for an All-Hazard Response Vessel. The request letter is on our website. This vessel is a shallow water capable craft, and can "quickly deploy resources on shore in areas where traditional land-based resources struggle, or may have a delayed response (e.g. Park Point, due to operation of the Lift Bridge)." We had a short discussion about this boat at the January meeting. Several members who have studied EMS and Fire Protection on Park Point are gathering more information on how this boat might provide services to PP. Would you consider sharing your thoughts on the matter? Please send questions, comments, ideas, concerns to parkpointcc@gmail.com. Thank you.

The PPCC is promoting the "See Me" safety campaign initiated by neighbor Beth Hall and will facilitate the distribution of products to increase the visibility of the many recreators on Park Point. If you would like to help, call or send me a note. parkpointcc@gmail.com. See and be seen.

Lastly, our January membership pizza party was wonderful. We welcomed a whole crew of new neighbors who have joined us! Several are living in the apartments, having "simplified and downsized." They are wise new neighbors, taking a few months to head down south before coming back in time for "spring appreciation." A big shout out to Diane Gould and Green Mill Pizza for great pizza and beverages.

Hope to see you on Tuesday, February 16th at Lafayette. Our new City Councilor, Em Westerlund, is hoping to attend.

That's all for now. Hope to see you out and about in our dynamic neighborhood.

EAB Brush Drop-off Site

Hi Neighbors,

FYI, the EAB site that was set up in the Recreation Area for brush/limb deposit was not utilized enough this winter to justify staffing each Tuesday. Hence, the site will be closed temporarily and re-evaluated for a new regular schedule in March, when people typically start tree cutting and other spring garden preparations.

Park Point residents will still have access to the site by request to Dale Sellner at 730-4303, as no wood parts may leave the Point under current quarantine rules.

No members of the public are allowed to use this site for trash drop off or to drop off tree parts from other areas of the city.

This temporary closure was effective January 11, 2016 with a new schedule to be determined in early spring.

Rehabilitation work on Aerial Lift Bridge to begin February 1

The City of Duluth is informing the public about the planned replacement of the wire ropes which serve to raise and lower the Duluth Aerial Lift Bridge. The project is scheduled to start on Monday, February 1st, 2016 and will continue through the end of the month.

The City of Duluth has contracted with Lakehead Constructors to perform the work Mondays through Saturdays from 7 AM to 5:30 PM. To facilitate the work, the Lift Bridge will be restricted to one-lane, two-way vehicular traffic during the project period. Traffic signals will be placed at each end of the Lift Bridge to keep traffic flowing through the single lane. The lane closure will shift between each side of the Bridge and appropriate traffic control signs and barricades will be in place to alert drivers. Periodic short term (15 minutes or less) traffic closures will also occur when materials need to be lifted over the roadway or loaded into and out of the work area.

The City thanks the public and requests that motorists build in additional travel time to reach their destination.

For additional information, contact Aerial Lift Bridge Supervisor Dave Campbell at (218) 730-3387, or LHB Project Manager Joe Litman at (218) 279-2455.

PPCC Meeting Notes for January 19, 2016

Following the annual Membership Drive /Pizza Party (Yum!), President Dawn Buck called the meeting to order at 7:01 p.m.

Thank-you's were offered to Dick Gould, who assisted in connecting CHUM with a homeless gentleman who apparently had been sleeping in the Pine Forest; to Diane Gould for arranging tonight's pizza through Green Mill; and to Rory Strange for standing out in the bitter cold, changing "The Postcard" message at the S-curve. Megathanks go to Ricky Lyle for sweeping away sand from the walkways and boardwalk around Lafayette, thus liberating the large rubber mats used to save skate blades between building and ice rink.

Introduction of Duluth Police Officer #483, Mike Vollman, who was attending his first PPCC Meeting. Mike, an 8-year veteran of the Dept., explained some recent changes in the community policing program. Rather than having only two officers assigned to Park Pt. and the Central Hillside, there will now be a rotating group of four, including both Mike and Craig Lindstrom, who's been on our beat for some time. Mike is unsure who the other officers will be. With the recent departure of Chief Ramsay, a new Chief will be coming on board in the next several months. He confirmed that the summertime Park Ranger Program will continue next season. Pam Griggs commented that she has noticed more officers giving tickets for alternate side parking and in the parking areas nearest the end of the Point, where ice fisher-women and men have been coming in great numbers. She is quite concerned about trash left on the ice, especially from around 32nd St. to the end of the Point, and hopes that special attention will be paid to this environmental problem. Al Robins asked whether all officers are now equipped with body cameras, and Mike responded that yes, they have been for some time. Duluth is the first major municipality in the state able to say this.

Dawn reported that the City has plowed the ice rink at Lafayette, but volunteers are needed to continue the flooding, as paid maintenance crews are available to do this on a "whenever we're available" basis only. Jake Kapsner has volunteered to coordinate this; please contact him directly or speak with Dawn if you're willing to offer any assistance. Even a very few hours helps.

Communications: From Deputy Fire Chief Erik Simonson, a plea for PPCC support of an "all hazard quick response vessel" to be moored downtown, ready to go at a moment's notice whether the Lift Bridge is up or down. Presently, the Fire Department has only a 12-ft. inflatable boat to use in such situations. [See more information below, under "New Business."] The Club additionally received a thank-you note from Chelly Townsend acknowledging the group's recognition of her brother's death.

November Breeze minutes (no December meeting): No corrections. Motion to accept the minutes as published approved without dissent.

Committee Reports

Treasurer's Report - Al Robins. Primary account = $31,845; Art Fair Account = $11,015. These figures come in at roughly $10K less than this time last year, due to the restrictions against profit-making stipulated under last season's Minnesota State Arts Board grant. Al reminded members once again that this grant, which Carla wrote and we received two years in a row, allowed both for expansion of the Fair and the purchase of several much-needed capital items. The Board and Art Fair Committee have agreed that we will not seek the MSAB or any other profit-limiting grant(s) this season. Other incoming monies from the Art Fair include artist booth fees (raised in 2016), and $500 in rental fees from each of six food vendors.

In addition to the Art Fair, other incoming funds include fees for the rental of Lafayette Community Center (generally between $3500 and $4500 per year), as well as the $5 per household PPCC membership fees, which usually continue to trickle in throughout the spring. Treasurer's Report approved without dissent.

Sunshine Committee - Pam Griggs. Sympathy cards sent to three members, plus a note of congratulations to former Breeze Editor Alan Dartanyan acknowledging a recent promotion.

Program Committee - Dave Poulin. If you have ideas for future programs or speakers, please contact Dave.

Watch Committee - All of us. Dick Gould reported counting more than seventy-five fishing "huts" on the bay; this, despite the fact that nearly the entire bay had been wide-open at Christmas time, less than two weeks earlier. Ellen Dunlap commented on the perennially-unshoveled sidewalk along the S-curve - the responsibility of the City, which nearly always plows it in. She noted that there had been a very serious accident in this block within the last ten days, a fairly frequent occurrence. This is likely the most dangerous stretch of the Point for pedestrians to be forced into the street, in her opinion.

Environmental Committee - Dick Gould. Foxes beginning to mate, becoming generally more active. Keep your cats inside - a city ordinance - and watch your small dogs! Deer population is down; at least two were killed by autos late this fall. Tree-planting - order has been placed; the "fruits of our labor" from past seasons are really beginning to show. Dick would like to see us work with Governor Dayton regarding infrastructure needs, specifically storm and sanitary sewer issues. Ice build-up exacerbates overflow problems in winter.

Art Fair Committee - Carla Tamburo. Carla was unavailable, but Dawn reminded all that the dates for 2016 are June 25th-26th...as always, "the last full week-end in June." Diane Gould will once again coordinate volunteer scheduling. "Some of the most fun volunteering you'll ever do!" she promises.

Rummage Sale - Dave Lavamaki has agreed once again to act as Chair for 2016. Sale dates are Friday, June 10th & Saturday, June 11th.

The Community Edible Garden group will be building some new raised beds this spring, according to Coral McDonnell. They'll be doing some fundraising later this spring; stay tuned!

Old Business -

Lyn Clark Pegg presented a brief update on the Street End issue. She and Cornelia Dacey met with Keith Hamre, Senior Planner and Project Coordinator, late in December. They had heard nothing from him for several weeks, despite his earlier-stated plans to proceed with recommendations to the City Council. With a new city administration, things are on hold, it appears. [See letters and commentary in the January issue of the Breeze.] Lyn has been contacted by UMD Urban Planning students about working on this with the PPCC Working Group once again. Their primary interest is the process involved, rather than advocating for any specific outcome.

Rowing Club - Tom Rauschenfels reported that most of the steel has already been delivered for the boat house; they'll be unable to start construction until the spring thaw. Once construction has begun, builders say it should take only about two weeks to complete the structure. There'll be an open house when all is done...watch the Breeze for future announcements. Tom added that the current boat house will be knocked down shortly; wood will be carted down to the EAB collection site, per quarantine rules.

[This prompted a reminder from Dawn that NO wood is to be removed from the Point, under present restrictions. See story on Emerald Ash Borer in the January issue of The Breeze for more details.]

Mike Sawinski, of the DSSA (Duluth Superior Sailing Association), reported that they're trying to secure funding for improvements of their site, situated along the bay within the Recreation Area. State Senator Roger Reinert is working on putting together a bill that would help with this. Once again, stay tuned.

Permanent bathrooms at Lafayette - Christine Penny, grant writer for the City of Duluth, is again working on obtaining funds for these long-needed facilities. Dennis Hoelscher pointed out that her work is based upon a plan that already existed, yet was foiled nearly three years ago. At the time, it was determined last-minute that confusion existed over ownership of the property; the City could not prove title. Failure to resolve that issue in a timely manner resulted in loss of grant monies.

Al Robins reported on recent discussions that have been going on within the board of the Minnesota Point Preservation Society. The MMPS was set up several years ago under the auspices of the PPCC; its board members include Al, Dave Poulin, Gary Glass and Rory Strange. Among their goals for the 12th Street (Franklin Park) lot is a full bathroom with wash-up area. Al believes the potential exists for 15-30 more parking spaces at that location, which might reduce pressure on the proposed Tier 2 sites.

Dawn reported that the St. Louis River Alliance has contacted us looking for our continuing support of its conservation efforts.

New Business

Dawn - On the topic of Deputy Fire Chief Simonson's request for an endorsement to purchase an All Hazard Quick Response Vessel: The Executive Board wants to learn more about the specifics of this proposal, as well as its cost - including storage - before considering support of the idea. Dennis Hoelscher indicated that he has been looking into this over the past 24 hours. The Deputy Chief has sent out copies of these letters to several entities requesting a thumbs-up, he says. Dennis remains concerned about what he sees as a lack of response from the City on the entire issue of emergency services. Thirty percent of the rigs currently on the street still do not meet minimum OSHA standards, he states; he is especially concerned about the absence of Advanced Life Support personnel on board. While all first responders are EMT's, Dennis stressed, many situations require the abilities and training of

What Does it Profit

After nine seasons of the popular TV sitcom Everybody Loves Raymond broadcast its final episode. The star of the show, Ray Romano, had gone from struggling as a stand-up comedian to become one of the highest-paid actors on television. At the conclusion of the last day's filming, Romano spoke to the studio audience, reflecting on his past and his future. He read from a note his brothers had stuck in his luggage the day he moved from New York to Hollywood, nine years earlier.

"My older brother Richard wrote 'What does it profit a man, if he gains the whole world, and loses his soul?'" said a tearful Romano. "Now I'm going to work on my soul.

What does it profit? Life is short and eternity is an awfully long time. At the end of our life what will really matter? Fame? Money? Success? Handled correctly they are all good things but not ends in themselves. What does matter is making a difference in another person's life. Can I honestly say that because of my being here the world is a better place? I don't have to solve world hunger or bring peace to war-torn regions, but I can be a blessing to another person. I can love God by loving the people God put in my life.

Almighty God, help me today to make the world a little better by loving those nearest to me.

Lent

Imagine God waiting for each of us to come home. From a long distance, God sees us returning. God runs to meet us. Always. This is the parable of the Running Father (some might call it the parable of the Prodigal) found in Luke 15. And this intentional turning toward God is Lent.

This year we will be breathing, and learning to breathe more deeply in the Way of knowing, loving and serving Christ. There are opportunities for meditative spiritual exercises, and opportunities to reach beyond our walls into the community. Breathing in, and breathing out.

Paramedics. He asks all to read the 2012 report, "Comprehensive Study of the Duluth Fire Department" that's on the website, concentrating especially on the last 4-5 pages.

Retired firefighter Jim Wood was asked for his view on the efficiency of the proposed emergency craft. Duluth at one time had a firefighting tug, Jim recalled, but its size, among other things, limited its function. He believes the larger issue regarding fire protection is one of infrastructure, specifically water pressure. Leaving town from the Aerial Lift Bridge, an 8-inch pipe changes size several times, terminating w/ 6-inch pipe by the time it nears the Rowing Club area. Jim described one occasion when firefighters encountered trouble as water was drawn from three hydrants simultaneously. One hose kept collapsing due to insufficient pressure. This happened near 2 a.m., when there is almost no demand for residential water. Had the situation occurred during "prime time," it could have been much worse, he feels. Jim doubts that the addition of a hazard boat would do much toward conquering the larger problem. "Think about the airport," added Dick Gould. "If there were to be a crash and a subsequent fire - next to the dune grass, or hitting a hangar - there would be almost no possibility that we'd have enough water to handle that situation."

Changing gears, resident Ken Kollage reported on the hard-earned success of residents in the 1300-1700 blocks in finally closing deals on the purchase of "garden plats" behind their homes. This has been a very long and contentious struggle that was resolved only after special legislation confirmed residents' first right of refusal, a commitment that theoretically had been in place since 1932. St. Louis County Commissioners steadfastly resisted this outcome for many months, as they wanted to place these undeveloped, inaccessible lots on sale as a block...presumably hoping for a single buyer. Neighbors involved met together many times over a two-year period, working to ensure their option to purchase their own back yards, and thus thwart a sale to developers.

Hearing no additional items for consideration, President Dawn requested and received a motion to adjourn. Motion carried unanimously; meeting adjourned at 7:55 p.m. (A new record?)

Notes submitted by Ellen Dunlap, who says, "OK, now...this time I really mean it! This is absolutely almost for sure the very last time I'm probably gonna do this." (The Club really does need a secretary. Sigh.)

Lafayette Community Edible Garden News

Our January potluck meeting was filled with planning ideas for the new year, starting with brainstorming on how to raise money to build new metal-sided raised beds. After five growing seasons using garden beds created from scavenged materials and old hockey rink boards, our original beds are starting to deteriorate and new beds are in order. We hope Park Pointers will support our efforts to beautify our community garden space.

In the meantime, we can look forward to the theme ideas for our upcoming meetings. In February, our theme is LOVE. We encourage everyone coming to the potluck dinner to bring only something they LOVE to make. We will invite representatives of the two organizations to which we donate some of our garden produce: Damiano Center and CHUM Food Shelf. Let's join together and spread a little LOVE their way.

At our March potluck dinner meeting, we all be Irish in honor of St. Patrick's Day. Wear green and bring a potluck dish that's your interpretation of an Irish dish. The green theme will continue as we discuss seed starting.

Make this the year you meet more of your neighbors and enjoy a convivial, home-cooked meal at one of our monthly potlucks. All Park Pointers are invited. For more information about our Park Point community garden or our events, call Coral @ 727-6455.

Introductions from Newly Elected Officials

Hello, my Park Point neighbors!

I'm writing to introduce myself: my name is Em Westerlund and I was elected this past November to be your District 3 Duluth City Councilor. I officially began my duties on January 4th of this year, and it's been quite the process to take in all of the operations of our great city and learn more about my role on the Council. What is clear to me already is that having the engagement and support of you all will be critical to my effectiveness as your City Councilor.

There are many issues which will be coming before the Council this coming year that will be of interest to you all, as Park Point residents. These include the ongoing implementation of the Park Point Small Area Plan, applications for commercial development on the Point, addressing the many issues related to vacation rental properties, and proposals for solving the challenges to emergency response on Park Point. I'm sure many of you are already following these issues closely, and so am I. I will continue to pay close attention to issues which affect Park Point and share information as it becomes available to me. You can count on me to show up, be attentive to your concerns, and work hard to ensure that decisions that impact Park Point are guided by the people who live in this neighborhood. In addition, I am committed to being responsive to your questions, concerns, and ideas for your neighborhood. Please don't hesitate to call, email, or introduce yourself - I plan to be in attendance at the February PPCC meeting and would love to meet more "Pointers" then!

In community & our shared vision for a strong Duluth,
Em

Hello Park Point neighbors,

Last November, I was elected by the residents of District 3 to the Duluth School Board. I took office January 4th, and have been selected as Treasurer of the Board, as well as Chair of the Business Committee - along with several other committee appointments. I've heard from parents, staff and community members regarding playgrounds and outdoor time, elective offerings at the secondary level, and appreciate the feedback and ongoing communication to improve our district. You can reach me at nora.sandstad@ISD709.org.

In general, I am hopeful that my efforts will contribute toward a tone at the board level that results in turning the media and community focus to what is happening in our schools and the ways in which we as a Board and District are working on improving the schools. I would also like to see the Board coalesce behind a clear vision for creating an excellent school district and communicating the value of that district to our community.

More specifically, I hope we as a Board will act to make some progress towards the reduction in class sizes. That will be a key factor in the upcoming budget discussions.

I also hope to see the success and expansion of the immersion program over the next few years. I am thrilled the Spanish immersion program is beginning next year at Lowell Elementary, and I believe it will be a great draw for families in our area.

We are quite fortunate that a great working relationship currently exists between the District staff, the administration and the School Board. I hope our work on the Board will maintain these partnerships as we address the challenges that exist and that will inevitably arise in the future.

Thanks for this opportunity to contribute,
Nora Sandstad
